

GLENNA PETERSON

Painting

Glenna was born and raised in the bootheel of New Mexico and always had a yearning to create. She could make the fanciest mud pies and cookies in the county! She loved sketching in pencil but when Glenna was about ten, her aunt gave her a set of watercolors. Once completed, her first painting was framed and hung! Glenna was hooked! She thought that having a framed painting must mean that she was an official artist!

And so began her journey in art. Not only does Glenna love to paint but she has met many wonderful people in the art world and made some great friends along the way.

She has studied with Jim Reynolds of the Cowboy Artists of America and Greg Kruetz from the Art Students League in New York. She has painted with some great artists through the years, including Cecil and Marilyn Howard, Mona Tanzola, Crystal Brown, and Di Massey to name just a few.

Glenna currently lives on a ranch near Animas, New Mexico, where she enjoys painting her own cowboys – husband, sons, and lots of grandkids. All wonderful subjects for action paintings when she can get them to cooperate! Her mediums are oils, pastels, pencils. She never mastered the watercolors that were her humble beginning! Most recently Glenna has expanded her subjects to include landscapes and still lifes.
